

Brian Tregaskis Photo

Crash blamed on icy roads

Emergency workers and paramedics place 28-year-old Rebecca Broderick into an ambulance after her Comanche XLS skidded on ice, ran into a snowbank and overturned Saturday morning. Orem officials blame an icy highway for the one-car rollover near the mouth of Provo Canyon. Broderick, 1200 N. 800 W., Orem, was traveling south on the off-ramp when the accident occurred. Her pinned hand kept her trapped in the vehicle until passing motorists stopped and freed her. She was treated and released at UVRMC.

s auction
t bind

Page A3

Lifestyle

GI Joe
turns 25

Page C1

ily Herald

ARY 12, 1989

$6.75 A MONTH — PRICE $1.00

deficit

nal Budget Office. "And it's d to think of any other word describe it than dishonest."

enner, now a senior fellow

Herald revamped today

Today's Daily Herald is in a new shape — the shape of things to come. Beginning today The Herald's content of local and wire news and features is divided into subject-oriented sections. A format little has been lost. Obituaries, normally on Page 4, appear today two pages further back. The crossword is on Page A8. Mary Worth, Steve Roper, and Alley Oop can be found in the new "GI"